SUSPICIOUS OF HARLAN STONE

Will Scrutinize Business Connections of the New Attorney General.

ANGRY OVER CHOICE

Disappointment of Insurgents That President Did Not Name Judge Kenyon As Successor to Harry Daugherty Being Openly Paraded.

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, April 3.—With its eyes sharpened to pin points as a result of its investigations, the Senate today began to take a good long look at Harlan Fiske Stone, the new attorney general. Stone's nomination was followed by the discovery that he was for years connected with the law firm of Canfield, Satterlow & Stone, Satterlow being the son-in-law of the late J. P. Morgan. That circumstance was enough to cause several Progressive senators to say today that a careful inquiry into Stone's qualifications and connections would be made.

The Judiciary Committee has the nomination. It will be taken up in a day or two and requests may be forthcoming that Stone be called before the committee. Administration leaders will resist any such attempt.

The White House made it known that no endorsement would result to him or his administration from Stone's business connections, nor from his supposedly liberal views. Progressives made no secret of their disappointment because Mr. Coolidge did not name Judge William S. Kenyon, former Iowa senator.

In the trespass action of W. S. Blaney against John T. Hoover, the plaintiff took a voluntary non-suit by a verbal agreement. This was the only case in which a jury was drawn. In eight other cases a settlement was either effected out of court or the case was continued until later in the term.

FIRE COMPLETELY DESTROYS PLANT OF LOCKHART IRON &
STEEL COMPANY AT SLIGO

Loss Not Determined But Is Said to Be Not Under $150,000.

The plant of the Lockhart Iron & Steel Company, generally known as Sligo Mills, was practically destroyed by fire starting at noon today.

All available firemen were hurried to the scene, the alarm being sounded several times to call out volunteers.

The flames spread rapidly through the structure, the wooden frame of which was quickly eaten through, allowing the roof and walls to fall.

The fire had its origin in the machine shop. According to a report made to Superintendent Porter Gillespie the men had just ceased work at noon and were sitting down to eat when they heard a report. One of them saw flames shooting from the fan at the blacksmith's forge and ran for the fire house.

When he returned the flames, blown by a wind coming from the south, were spreading into the main building. A telephone call was made for the fire department and another was sent to the Kilwin's Club rooms where Superintendent Gillespie had gone for lunch with the Irony Club.

The fire truck was delayed by a train at the North Pittsburgh street crossing and when it arrived the entire building seemed to be ablaze. Connections were made with four hydrants by the city firemen and two more lines were attached to a plug of the H. C. Frick Coke Company.

The Frick pressure was considerably greater than that on the city line, although the water company said it had 145 pounds on the four-inch line. The coke company's water supply was secured directly from the Youghiogheny River, its pumps giving as much pressure as was necessary.

An explanation regarding the origin of the fire was forth that when green coal is placed on a forge and then the fan closed down, the gas which was in the furnace and was forced out through the door and subsequently gathered and exploded, usually setting fire to the fan. This is believed to have been exactly what happened at the mill.

No one was injured. The men had plenty of time to leave the building. The nearest approach to an accident reported was when a wall fell on the west side where Frick firemen were working. J. W. Mitchell of the city, once a city fire chief, was on the nozzle. As the wall began to break a warning about went up. He turned away but slipped, it seemed for a moment he would be caught but regaining his footing he scurried to safety.

Twenty-four furnaces, the entire number making up the plant, were in operation. Superintendent Gillespie said the output during the past two weeks has been greater than at any time during the history of the concern. On last night's trick 50,000 pounds of iron were turned out and an effort was being made today to beat this. It is expected a similar figure, if not a greater one, would have been attained.

Whether the furnaces were damaged or not is a matter of conjecture. The same holds true as to the machinery. Considerable of the apparatus in the machine shop will be of no further use, some of the men said, while others said the shorter ones could be repaired in other parts of the mill. Some were of the belief that the furnaces were not so greatly damaged unless punctured by falling beams or chimneys.

Nearly all the great smokestacks of the plant were pulled down. Only a few of the shorter ones remain standing. In order to bring down the big ones acetylene torches were used to cut the stays.

The flames were still burning at 2:30 o'clock and all the streams of water were kept on the fire in order to completely extinguish it. Some acetylene torches were used to cut the stays.

Two hundred and forty men are thrown out of work by the fire. This is a serious industrial blow, coming especially at a time when the Sligo mill, frequently a failure, was running more regularly and at greater capacity than ever in its history.

The mill was purchased about two years ago by its present owners. Since then considerable money has been expended on the plant and portions of the old buildings torn away, including the finishing mill. Iron turned out now is taken to Pittsburgh to be finished. It was understood the company was contemplating extensions.

No estimate of the loss was made by Superintendent Gillespie. Officials of the company, from Pittsburgh, said they would leave on an afternoon train for this city to look over the situation. It was believed the loss would run between $100,000 and $150,000, or more if the furnaces were damaged.

For a time it seemed that the houses on the east side of the plant would be fired by the heat from the burning building. These were kept dampened with water until the danger passed. The houses are occupied by employees of the company.

A number of men who work on the night shift were on the scene soon after it became known "Sligo" was burning. They will suffer from an enforced lay-off.

While no word was forthcoming from the company, the general belief is that the plant will be re-built. It has been a valuable asset since its purchase and this coupled with a steadily increasing output are believed to be factors that will favor a reconstruction.

A great crowd of spectators gathered and watched the majestic smokestacks fall and once when a steam line broke with a roar, the crowd, frightened, ran.

COOLIDGE IN NO WAY RESPONSIBLE FOR MISTAKES THAT HAVE BECOME EVIDENT,
PEPPER DECLARES IN KEYNOTE SPEECH

By United Press.
PORTLAND, Me., April 3.—Laying Republican mistakes to the late President Harding and absolving President Coolidge from all blame, Senator George W. Pepper of Pennsylvania in a keynote speech at the Republican state convention today told the Republican state convention:

"That appointment of Colonel Charles E. Forbes as head of the Veterans Bureau and Albert H. E. as interior secretary were 'terrible mistakes' and that Harry M. Daugherty's selection as attorney general was 'grave error in judgment.'"

"When I say this I am speaking of the mistakes not of the living but of the dead; of the mistakes of a better leader whose virtues were many and whose lapses were few."

That the Democrats "saved almost at us (Republicans) and hit America" during the remainder of this session will do whatever is possible to "move forward in the right direction" and rely upon the great popular endorsement which they expect to receive next November to give to the momentum necessary to complete our program.

Pepper pointed out that the Republicans, though added with the responsibility for the congressional program, had no real majority there and indicated the Republicans plan this year would be for a strong Republican Congress to back the administration.

Repeating achievements and plans he first took up tax reduction.

COOLIDGE AND PEPPER MAY BE STANDARD BEARERS

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Coolidge and Pepper are the ticket upon which a certain influential group of Republican conservatives have united. They think Pepper might be able to send Coolidge's power in Pennsylvania to a position in which they must agree to a horizontal 25 per cent reduction in taxes payable in 1925 or else face the wrath of an angry country.

Pepper admitted that for farmers in general the government has done less than for any other economic group. The question of prohibition and its enforcement will not be a party question unless the Democrats are foolish enough to make it so," predicted Pepper. "Neither is soldier bonus a party issue. For law enforcement we take a strong and definite stand for the care of disabled soldiers we ought to pledge our fortunes and our honor. To them we owe an apology for the tragedy of the Veterans Bureau."

America is not holding itself from the rest of the world, he said, but would never submit at entanglements through the League of Nations or any other "international council." The world apply apparently to the Harding world court.

Berlin Seething With Discontent Against the Present Order of Things; Strassmann's Party Attempting to Bring "Democracy"

By United Press.
BERLIN, April 3.—Monarchism has burst upon Germany in unflinching openness. Republicans and monarchists brawl in the streets and no day passes without some demonstration by those who want a new "all high-est."

At a mighty Nationalistic demonstration during the funeral of Walter Dreyer, Ruhr saboteur, who died in a French prison at St. Martin, the flag of republican Germany was ripped from a staff. Emblems of anti-Semitism were raised and three ministers walked bareheaded past them.

The party of former Chancellor Stresemann is advocating a Democratic monarchy, while a Nationalist organization at Hamburg voted for the old-time monarchy. A "Bismarck celebration" last night was the occasion for violent outburst on the part of monarchist sympathizers. While the end of the Ludendorff trial at Munich was marked by Nationalist rejoicing.

Only Chancellor Marx and a couple of other ministers are "out and out republicans."

COMPROMISE ON IMMIGRATION LAW IS NOW EXPECTED

House and Senate Committees Being Unable to Agree Over Quota Years.

WILL IT BE 1890 OR 1910?

WASHINGTON, April 2.—The best information obtainable is that the immigration law is to be extended for four years with the quota reduced to two per cent of all aliens in the United States under the 1910 census. The House Committee has agreed to this, but the Senate Committee has not yet decided whether to use the 1890 or 1910 census.

The House Immigration Committee is solidly behind the Johnson bill which places the immigration quota at two per cent of the 1890 census of aliens. The Senate Immigration Committee has not yet decided whether to use the 1890 or 1910 census. The House Committee has agreed to this, but the Senate Committee has not yet decided whether to use the 1890 or 1910 census.

In the deadlock that is coming with the certainty that immigration legislation must be enacted, there remains only the question of what will be the compromise. Congressional leaders are predicting that there will be passed by Congress a resolution extending the present law for a period of four years with the quota reduced from three to two per cent on the alien population of 1910.

Within two weeks the House will pass the Johnson bill with its restrictive measures on selective and unskilled immigration. This bill proposes reduction in immigration to a maximum of about 250,000 a year. The present law admits about 340,000 a year. The difference in the two propositions is in nationality of the permitted immigration, and the switch by the committee from the census year of 1910 to 1890 tells this story.

Before 1890 the Latin of the Mediterranean territory had not started to move to the United States as immigrants. The immigration had been from the Scandinavian countries and from Russia. They formed the backbone of the common labor in the United States. After 1890 there came an influx of the Italians, Greeks, and others of the Mediterranean countries.

The House Committee would stop this migration on the theory that such immigrants do not make good citizens. The Senate Committee holds a different view, claiming that the Latin of the Mediterranean territory had not started to move to the United States as immigrants. The immigration had been from the Scandinavian countries and from Russia. They formed the backbone of the common labor in the United States. After 1890 there came an influx of the Italians, Greeks, and others of the Mediterranean countries.

There is some politics mixed up with the immigration legislation proposed in Congress. The American Legion is fighting for radical restriction. It is bringing forth the argument of "America for Americans." Against this argument is the campaign of the industrialists of the country who are insisting on immigration as the only way of building up the common labor of the country which is now in general demand.

The fight on immigration is sectional. The West would close the doors of America totally to all immigration. It fears the Asiatic peril because of experiences with the Japanese along the Pacific Coast states. The Mexico border states are alive to the danger of Mexican invasion of cheap man labor but want it, whether by law or otherwise, in the cotton fields.

In the New England states and in the Middle West the fight is against immigration. Competition in labor comes makes the New England states hurry to support of restricted immigration, and the Midwest is busy with an agricultural fight against the world that permits of no interference from outside cheap labor. There is a demand for immigration from the great industrial centers because of the over growing need for man power mills and factory. The Americans of two generations have grown into a home-building individual, taught by propaganda from the federal government. Labor unions have set up a standard of living based on American ideals which are in conflict with the demands of the industrialists.

The Johnson Immigration Bill which the House will pass provides for a restricted immigration to two per cent of all aliens in the United States as of the census of 1890, with selective supervision in American diplomatic offices in the countries from which such immigrants are to come. Due regard is given to treaty rights under this bill and provision is made for visitation of aliens. The Senate and the House Immigration committees have split on the nationality of immigrants to be admitted to the United States. The House Committee is seeking to restrict immigration from Southern Europe. The Senate Committee led by Senator Cole, of Rhode Island, insists that Southern European immigration is desirable because of its ready assimilation while Northern European immigration does not grasp American ideals and remains alien.

In detail the Johnson bill provides for treaty rights of all foreign nationalities, for exclusion of all immigrants not entitled under federal law to become citizens of the United States, for admission of all blood relatives of naturalized citizens of the United States or of those seeking naturalization. All others demanding admission to the United States must prove their desirability to the American consuls located in the country of the emigrant.

It is understood the Senate Immigration Committee has no quarrel with these provisions of the proposed law to take the place of existing law to expire by limitation June 1 next. The fight is on between the House and Senate committees over the quota years - whether it shall be 1890 or 1910.

Nelson Girls Lose to Warren Elks, 27-7, in Hard Game at Armory

Locals Unable to Penetrate Strong Defense of Best in United States.

MISS WILLIAMS STARS

Unable to penetrate the defense of the Warren, O. Elks girls in a game at the State Armory last night the Nelson girls, Connelville's best, went down to a one-sided defeat. The score was 27-7.

Placed before a large crowd, the game was anything but uninteresting. The Coker lassies were on the jump at all times and never stopped trying. During the first half the Nelson team showed to best advantage, holding their opponents to a 9-3 score.

The visiting players were big and brawny, the six-foot guard, towered over the largest of the Nelson team. Nelsons scored five of their seven points from the foul line. Only a single field goal was getting by the home girls. Tennant registered the only one.

Seating arrangements for the big crowd had been provided and the rosters kept up their encouragement to the nervous Nelsons quitters throughout the game. Marge Williams, star forward, who has made on an average of 19 points per game all season kept her record unblemished, making exactly 10 of her team's points. She scored twice from the floor and dropped in six out of seven from the free line.

The attack of the visitors in the second half swept the Nelson team off its feet. The locals' guarding system went to pieces for a time and until necessary substitutions could be made the Warren girls were walking away with all honors.

The line-up:

Nelsons—7. Warren Elks—27.
Tennant—7. Williams—10.
G. Guyana—2. Boyd—1.
Michaelis—1. Coker—1.
McCormick—1. Olson—1.
Kramer—1. Donco—1.

Substitutions—G. Guyana for G. Guyana, F. Buttermore for Michaelis, M. Buttermore for McCormick, Baker for Williams.

Field goals—Williams 2, Baker 2, Boyd 3, Tennant 1.
Foul goals—G. Guyana, 2 out of 4, R. Guyana, 1 out of 1; F. Buttermore, 1 out of 2; M. Buttermore, 1 out of 1; Boyd, 4 out of 5; Boyd, 1 out of 2; Williams, 5 out of 7.

Referee—Lewis.

Twinklers Defeated By Atlas Five, 23-17

The Twinklers were eliminated in the play-off for the city Junior championship last night by the Atlas Five in a preliminary game at the State Armory. The score was 23-17.

The line-up:

Twinklers—17. Atlas—23.
Flem—1. Ambrose—2.
Colson—1. Solson—1.
Stoner—1. Trevel—1.
Sapolsky—1. G. Tannhill—1.
Gordon—1. Fisher—1.

Substitutions—Coughenour for Solson.

Field goals—Fisher 2, Tannhill 2, Trevel 2, Ambrose 2, Solson 1, Stoner 2, Flem 1, Gordon 1.

Foul goals—Twinklers, 9 out of 20; Atlas, 3 out of 8.

DAN LAPORTE BETHANY BALL CAPTAIN EXPECTS BIG YEAR ON DIAMOND

Special to The Courier.

BETHANY, W. Va., April 3.—In the opening game of Morgantown April 12 the Bethany College nine will have practically a veteran team on the field for only three men from the 1923 squad did not report this year.

DUNBAR TOWNSHIP HAS SUCCESSFUL SEASON ON FLOOR

Opening the season with one letter man, Coach J. H. Henderson of the Dunbar Township High School developed one of the fastest and best working basketball combinations in the county, composed of Colbert and Sweeney, forwards; "Perry" Bradley and "Bud" Rudsko, guards, and Boyd, center. Glass, Riley, "Bob" Bradley, McLoughlin and Arnold made good substitutes. Colbert, who probably is among the three leaders in scoring, played his first year of basketball. He never saw a basketball game until he entered school.

The township school outscored its opponents by 151 points, recently closing the season by winning its tenth game, with five defeats. The scores of the teams during the season are as follows:

D. T. H. S. 49, North Union 12.
D. T. H. S. 25, Redstone 52.
D. T. H. S. 47, South Union 7.
D. T. H. S. 31, Mystery 13.
D. T. H. S. 15, So. Brownsville 21.
D. T. H. S. 39, Mount Pleasant 10.
D. T. H. S. 31, German Twp. 22.
D. T. H. S. 25, South Union 21.
D. T. H. S. 27, So. Brownsville 9.
D. T. H. S. 47, D. Run Y. M. C. A. 12.
D. T. H. S. 22, Redstone 25.
D. T. H. S. 28, Trinity School 15.
D. T. H. S. 17, Connelville 13.
D. T. H. S. 19, Connelville 17.

Of interest to fans.

The game between Captain Glass and the Connelville scholastic basketball team, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until Monday evening. It will be played at South Connelville. Two men, LaRue and O'Donnell, will not play, but it is understood their positions will be capably filled.

The Lightning Five was defeated by the Christian Church Juniors in a game on the latter's gymnasium yesterday evening. The score was 21-10.

The South Side Basketbats defeated the Imps on the Armory floor yesterday afternoon, 14-8.

All athletic attention in the High School is now centered upon the track and field candidates. The Cokers are going in for this work strong this season and expect to capture more than one first place.

Housatonic High School, representing Pennsylvania in the national basketball tournament at Chicago, was eliminated yesterday by the Oak Cliff High School of Dallas, Tex. A great victory by Housatonic tied the score at the time ended and at the close of the first five-minute extra period the score was again a tie. In the second extra frame Dallas forged ahead. The final result was 25-20. At the close of the regular playing time the score was 21-21. It was 25-20 at the end of the first five extra minutes.

Among new umpires signed for the Mississippi Valley league is Timmer Deacon of Peoria, Ill., well known in independent circles as the handler of an indicator.

Charley Deal, third baseman of the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast league, has decided to return to his team.

Of these three one was lost by graduation, one withdrew from school, and the other is barred because of professionalism. All three were pitchers.

Among the old men who will represent Bethany on the diamond this year is Dan Laporte, who led from Connelville. At the close of last year's season Laporte was elected captain for this year and so he will lead the Bethany through what promises to be a most successful schedule.

Laporte is not only an exceptional pitcher but also a good player. He is a football player of no mean ability and has been with the varsity for the past two seasons. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity and played on the Beta basketball team this year. In addition to work on the athletic team Laporte has been assistant manager of the basketball team and will probably hold the managership next year.

As an infielder for the last two seasons Dan Laporte has been one of the best that Bethany has ever had and his batting average of .355 shows that he is pretty handy with the stick. This year as an outfield man and captain he should have a good season and there is every reason to believe that such will be the case. At any rate the Bethany followers are very optimistic.

Hoppe Greatest Player in World of Billiards

Willie Hoppe truly is the marvel of the billiard world. Thirty-seven years old, he has been playing billiards steadily since he was a youngster of six, having inherited his talent from his father and mother, who were billiard experts.

Billiards require steady nerves, remarkable patience and rare courage. One would think the strain of defending his championship for so many years would wreck Hoppe's nervous system, but to the contrary, he seems to improve with age.

Hoppe first acquired the USA billiards title by defeating Maurice Vignaux of France in Paris in 1906. He won the 1922 billiards crown from George Sutton in 1900 and has held the title ever since with the exception of the brief period that young Jake Schaefer had the title in his custody.

The New York Yankees have released pitcher Elbert Johnson to the Des Moines club of the Western league.

STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX TOURING CAR

$1045

Mark This Example of what Studebaker alone can do

STUDEBAKER is the world's largest maker of quality cars. Our assets are $90,000,000. We have $50,000,000 in model plants.

Our sales have almost trebled in three years, because of our matchless values. Last year, 145,167 people paid $201,000,000 for Studebaker cars.

Come and learn why

Come and see, before you buy a car, the reasons for this success. See this Light-Six Touring Car, for instance.

Build of the finest steel. Of the very same steel we use in the construction of our cars. On some we pay makers 15% premium to get just the quality specified.

Build under an engineering department which costs us $500,000 yearly.

Each car subjected in the building to 32,000 separate inspections.

Same steel, same workmanship as in the costliest Studebaker models.

Two great features

There are many features in this Light-Six found in no rival car. But we want to mention two in particular.

The motor is perfectly balanced. That means long life and freedom from vibration.

The reason is this: We machine all surfaces of our crankshafts and connecting rods in 61 operations. Just as is done in Liberty airplane.

Motors. This is done in no other car. Then we use more Timken bearings in any competitive car within $1,500 of our price. And Timken bearings take up wear as no other bearings do.

Why this price?

This Light-Six Touring Car is priced at $1045. Built under ordinary conditions such a car would cost you from $200 to $400 more.

Why?

Why are we asking for higher rates at a time when everyone is hoping and looking for lower prices generally?

When we adopted our present rates we had some 600,000 telephones in Pennsylvania. Most of the plant for their operation was installed at prices averaging those of 1912 and 1913 for labor and materials, and these rates were calculated to allow a fair return on that investment.

Since May, 1920, we have put in half a million telephones (for a net gain of 200,000), and all of them, including the additional new plant required for their operation, at the new cost levels.

Telephone plant wears out. All replacements too, have been made at these higher prices.

In the next five years we must put in 925,000 new telephones, gross, to meet the demands of the people of Pennsylvania for service.

Here is the point! Telephone rates made in 1920, when the investment was $137 per telephone in service, do not provide an adequate return today, when the investment is $177 per telephone in service, and constantly increasing.

A reasonable increase in telephone rates is necessary in order to attract the tremendous amounts of new capital now required, not only to meet the demands for expansion, but also to keep up the existing service.

"DEFYING DESTINY," with Monte Blue and Irene Rich in the stellar roles, and "Columbus," the first of the Chronicles of America subjects, are the leading attractions today at the Paramount. The story of the life-long love between a rich girl, Beth Alden, and a poor man, Jack Fenton. Although scorned by her and public opinion, Jack never loses Beth's love and trust and eventually he proves his true worth to the people who had scorned him. The roles of Jack Fenton and Beth Alden are realistically portrayed by Monte Blue and Irene Rich. They literally seem to be the characters they are playing. Jackie Saunders, Tully Marshall, Z. Wall Covington and Russell Simpson are some of the well-known names in the supporting cast and their admirable acting adds much to the atmosphere of the picture. Equal care was given to the selection of the actors to interpret the characters that figure in the story of Columbus' great struggle and discovery. Fred Eric was finally chosen as leader of the trio of the mariner of Genoa, and Dolores Costello was cast as Queen Isabella and Robert Gaillard as King Ferdinand. Friday and Saturday "The Covered Trail" and the first chapter of "The Way of a Man," will be shown.

The Soisson

"THE HUNCHBACK OF NOTRE DAME" will be shown for the first time tonight at the Soisson and persons who have not already seen this wonderful screen production should not fail to see it tonight. It is a picture which has come down through the ages with unimpaired lustre. Aside from the natural interest in the story of such a romantic masterpiece, there is a general interest to see the production which required more than a year to film and on which more than $1,500,000 was expended. Liberties were taken with the story—being defended on the ground that a production intended for all classes could not afford to offend any particular religious denomination—but while many shook their heads and predicted dire failure as a result, the changes were all approved by the New York critics after the world premier in the Astor Theatre. Certainly all the elements of success are contained in the production—Universal had the story, the title, the cast and unlimited funds. Local verification of the New York opinion will be watched with interest. The selection of Lou Chaney for the title role of "Quasimodo, the Hunchback," was a logical one. His amazing ability to portray characters such as he played in "The Miracle Man," "Outside the Law," and "Shadows," roles which required constant ability as well as unusual dramatic training, is well known. It is claimed that Chaney required four and one-half hours daily to do the make-up of the deformed bell-ringer of Notre Dame. Friday and Saturday Dorothy Phillips and Kenneth Harlan will be seen in "The World's a Stage," Elinor Glyn's version of the romance of a screen star.

Movie Beauties

Use these powders—you will revel in them.
 By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have for years sold $5 per box for my powders—to get the finest in existence. So do most movie beauties. They must have the best. I started to offer other women my aids to beauty and to youth. But I never thought of powders. I did not dream that such powders as I use could be supplied at modest prices. But the makers have helped me out. They now supply me these powders under my name at a price which all can pay. I told them that women would use millions of boxes. So those who use my beauty helps may now get my powders, too.

None so Exquisite

These powders are supreme productions, made for those who demand the best without regard to price. They are as fine as vapor, as harmless as dew, and fragrant with my favorite perfume. Most of you have never seen such exquisite powders. There are two kinds, light and heavy. I use a heavy cold cream powder, with a base like my Youth Cream. It clings and stays. But without the cold cream base. So I had both kinds prepared. Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream Powder—the heavy, clinging powder—sells for $1. Edna Wallace Hopper's Face Powder—the light and fluffy powder—sells for 50 cents. Both come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette. Supplied by all druggists and toilet counters. They also supply my Youth Cream, based on fruit. My Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. My Hair Youth, which brought my luxuriant hair. And my White Youth Clay—the almost perfect facial clay. These are the creations which made me a beauty, and which keep me a beauty at my grand old age. My Beauty Book comes with each.

If you want a matchless powder, go ask for a box of mine. If you want more beauty or perennial youth, the very ways which brought them to me are at your command. Edna Wallace Hopper, 588 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago. It clings and stays. But

WHERE A GREAT DREAM CAME TRUE

In a recent address, Chairman John T. Adams of the Republican National Committee made this reference to the late President Harding: "He brought to reality the long-deferred dream of the world—the world-wide reduction of naval armament." Above is the home of the Pan-American Union at the national capital, in which assembled the representatives of the great powers of the world at the invitation of President Harding to reach an agreement upon naval disarmament. As a result of this momentous gathering, the navy which would otherwise still be in commission at great cost to their respective governments. CHAPTER XIV

The next day Wilson paid his usual visit to the farm where Grant was playing and again was he the bearer of a message. With much difficulty he managed to extricate the envelope from a pocket.

"Dear Mr. Grant," it read, "I am so excited over a remark dropped last night I must see you again as soon as possible. Can you drop in tonight, say at eight. Yours, ZEN."

Grant read the message a second time, wondering what remark could have occasioned it. For a moment he wondered if she had created a pretext upon which to bring him to the house by the river, and then instantly dismissed that thought as unworthy of him. At any rate it was evident that she was addressing her by her Christian name had given an offense. This time she had not called him "The Man-of-the-Hill," and there was no suggestion of playfulness in the note. Then the signature, "Yours, Zen," that might mean anything, or it might mean nothing. Either it was purely formal or it implied a very great deal indeed. Grant reflected that it could hardly be interpreted anywhere between those two extremes, and was it reasonable to suppose that Zen would use it in an entirely formal sense? If it had been "Yours truly," or "Yours sincerely," or any such stereotyped conclusion, it would not have called for a second thought, but the simple word "Yours."

"If only she were," thought Grant, and felt the color creep to his face at the thought. It was the first time he had dared that much. He had not bothered to wonder much where or how this affair must end. Through all the years that had passed, Zen had been to him a sweet, elusive memory.

With Much Difficulty He Managed to Extricate the Envelope From a Pocket.

to be dreamed over and idealized, a wild, daring, irresponsible incarnation of the spirit of the hills.

He wrote on the back of the note, "Look for me at eight," and then, observing that the boy had not brought Teddy along, he focused solicitously for the health of the little pet.

"He's all right, but mother wouldn't let me bring him. Said I might lose him." The tone in which the last words were spoken implied just how impossible such a thing was. Loss! Teddy! No one but a mother could think of such an absurdity.

"But I got a knife!" Wilson exclaimed, his mind darting to a happier subject. "Daddy gave it to me. Will you sharpen it? It is as dull as a pig."

Grant was to learn during the day that all the boy's figures of speech were now hung in the family pig. The knife was as dull as a pig; the plow was as rough as a pig; the horse, when they cowered at a corner, were as wild as a pig; even Grant himself, while he held the little chap firmly on his knee, received the doubtful compliment of being as strong as a pig. He went through the form of sharpening the knife on the leather lines of the harness, and was pleased to discover that Wilson, with childish dexterity of imagination, now pronounced it as sharp as a pig.

The boy did not return to the field in the afternoon, and Grant spent the time in a strange admixture of happiness over the pleasant companionship he had found in this little son of the prairie and anticipation of his meeting with Zen that night.

Grant prepared his supper of bacon and eggs and fried potatoes, brand and jam and black tea, and ate it from the kitchen table. Supper ended, he noticed he had just time to walk to Trane's house before eight o'clock.

Zen received him at the door; the maid and Wilson was in bed. She lighted the dry wood in the fireplace. "I have been so anxious to see you—again," she said, drawing a chair not far from him. "A chance remark of yours last night brought to memory many things—things I have been trying to forget." Then, abruptly, "Did you ever kill a man?"

"You know I was in the war," he returned, evading her question.

MRS. WEAST WINS FIGHT

Suffered 20 Years With INDIGESTION

"Thank You," She Says

If a whole book were written and sent to every sufferer from acute or chronic indigestion, gastritis, dyspepsia, or whatever you choose to call it, it could pay no more sincere compliment to the mighty corrective value of Doro's Mentha-Pepsin in all forms of stomach trouble. Read it—What it did for Mrs. Weast. It will just as surely do for you.

"For twenty years I have been a constant sufferer with indigestion and severe attacks of gas. I have tried any number of preparations without any real benefit.

"Suddenly I suffered from an unusually severe attack and was in bed for ten days. I tried Doro's Mentha-Pepsin and in two days I was up and around, the misery and pain vanished, and I shall ever thank the day when my husband read of this wonderful remedy.

"I am better than I have been for years. I can eat almost anything without pain or distress. I hope that every sufferer will try Doro's Mentha-Pepsin. Write to Mrs. A. W. Weast, McGaheysville, Va., Feb. 28, 1923."

idence; he bent his eyes intently upon her face, now shining in the ruddy light from the fireplace. Her frank reference to the event that night seemed to create a new bond between them; he knew now, if ever he had doubted it, that Zen Traneley had treasured that incident in her heart even as he had treasured it.

"I was so embarrassed after the accident, you know," she continued. "I know you must know I had been in the water. For days and weeks I expected every hour to hear of the finding of the body. I expected to hear the remark dropped casually by every new visitor at the ranch, 'Drank's body was found today in the river. The Mounted Police are investigating.' But time went on and nothing was heard of it. It would almost have been a relief to me if it had been discovered. If I had reported the affair at once, as I should have done, all would have been different, but having kept my secret for a little I found it impossible to confess later. It was the first time I ever felt my self-control severely shaken.

"Well, now you know," she said, with an embarrassed little laugh. "You see, I have put my life in your hands."

"Your husband knows?"

"No. That made it harder. I never told Frank."

She arose and walked to the fireplace, pretending to stir the logs. When she had seated herself again she continued. "It has not been easy for me to tell all things to Frank. Don't misunderstand me; he has been a model husband, according to my standards."

"According to your standards?"

"According to my standards—when I married him."

She paused, and Grant sat in silence, watching the glow of the firelight upon her cheek.

"Your standards have changed?" said Grant, taking up the thread when she had sat down again.

"They have. They have changed more than Frank's, which makes me feel rather at fault in the matter. How could he know that I would change my ideal of what a husband should be?"

"Why shouldn't he know? That is the course of development. Without changing ideals there would be stagnation."

"Perhaps," she returned, and he thought he caught a note of wistfulness in her voice. "But I don't blame him. Frank—now, I rather blame him."

He swept me off my feet; stamped me. My parents helped him, and I was only half disposed to resist. You see, I had this trouble on my mind, and for the first time in my life I felt the need of protection. Besides, I took a matter-of-fact view of marriage. I thought that sentiment—love, if you like—was a thing of books, an invention of poets and fiction writers. Practical people would be practical in their marriages, as in their other undertakings.

This New Treatment Never Fails to End Piles

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say: "Go to your druggist and get an original box of Moxa Suppositories." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and, by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action, free the pain and soothe and then by direct contact with the ulcer and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Piles which often cause in their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

Rebuilding a Power System in 72 Hours

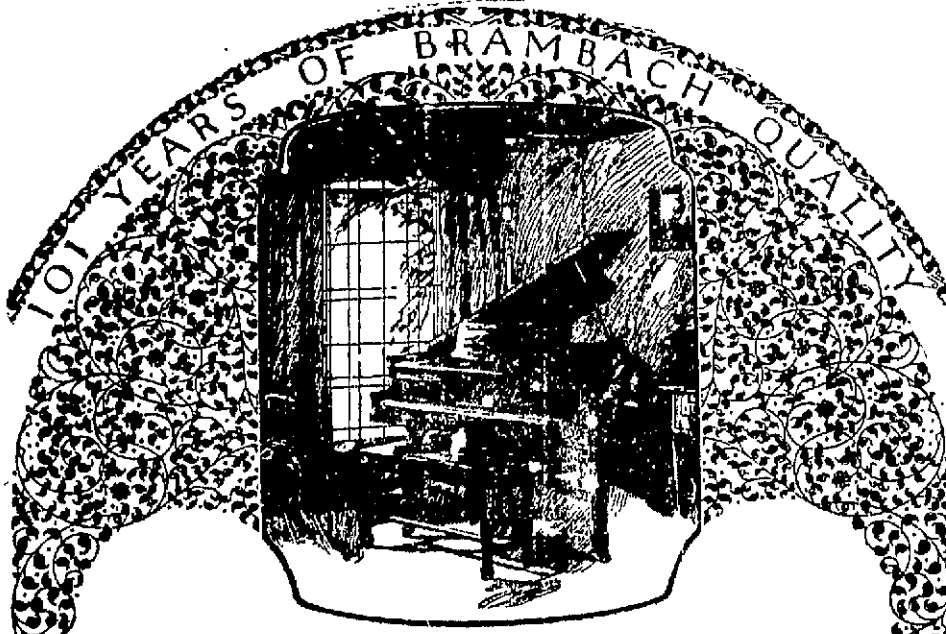

DURING the recent storm (the worst this county has known in years) hundreds of our men worked day and night in order to restore service. With hundreds of miles of power lines throughout the Coke Region subjected to the strain of this disastrous weather, it speaks volumes for the sturdy character of our equipment that any of it withstood this violence.

As it was we were forced to rebuild many miles of power lines in a very short time. This sounds like an impossible task. But it was done. Not only that but within 72 hours Railway communication and Power Service was reestablished throughout the Coke Region.

The credit for the accomplishment of this task goes to our employees whose unfailing loyalty and unstinting service made possible an apparently impossible task.
